BRITT HANDED

Twenty Rounds of Fighting in Which the Native Son Greatly Excelled.

DANE SIMPLY OUTCLASSED ENORMOUS CROWD WITNESSED

THE MILL.

Auditorium, San Francisco, July 31 .-Jimmy Britt of San Francisco gained the decision over Battling Nelson of Hegewisch, Ill., at the end of 20 rounds of as fast and pretty fighting as has been seen in San Francisco in many years. At no knockout until near the end of the last round, when Britt's right and left swings and uppercuts, which he landed one after another at will on Nelson's face, all but put the Dane down and out.

Nelson did the greater part of the lead.

Swings to the same spot. Then ensued a furious rally, Nelson having the better of it. As the gong sounded Britt sunk his left twice to the Dane's stomach, making the latter wince. The round was comparatively even.

Round 4—Nelson, as usual, skipped wijekly to the centre and after some Nelson did the greater part of the leading from start to finish, but he was outdone by Britt in cleverness, ring general-ship and everything but gameness and ability to take punishment.

Only Two Rounds for Nelson.

Referee Welsh, after announcing his decision, gave Nelson only two rounds out of the twenty—the second and the

By his game fight Britt wiped out finally the aspersions that some former bat-tles had placed on him. He showed that keeping away from his adversary is the chief part of his ring generalship. His defense showed up better than ever be-fore and his accuracy was never so marked. He found his man almost at will, and from the tap of the opening gong to the end of the last round there was no lack of steam in his blows. If anything he showed up stronger in the last five rounds than in the first fifteen, while in the last half of the mill Nelson's hitting powers obviously diminished.

Britt Took No Chances.

While Britt took no foolish chances, he gave Nelson plenty of close quarter op-portunities to put him out if the battler had been able to land. Nelson disappoint-ed many of his admirers by his wildness. his man, go into a clinch and then, with his bull head pressing his adversary's but the round ended in Nelson's full factors.

the face and body.

The great strength of Nelson was noth-The great strength of Nelson was nothing new to the crowd of 10,000 ring followers who watched him tonight, but the equal and undiminished strength of Britt was a surprise that set them by the ears and won for the local fighter ringing yells of applause in at least half a dozen rounds. Nelson, on the other hand, was distinctly weakened toward the close of the fight and in the ninth was jarred backward several paces and all but off his feet by right and left swings to the head. The Dane showed his lessening strength in his faltering footwork and the utter ineffectiveness of the blows he failed to land. All through the fight the force of Britt's blows, a great majority of which found their mark, was such that a fighter with less than Nelson's immense stamina would have taken the count a couple of times and then stayed down.
A ringsider summed it up rather neatly at the close of the fight when he remark-"Let's call it 'Battling Britt' and 'The Enduring Dane."

Vicious Last Round.

Both men came to the center of the ring with a jump when the gong sounded the the contest by rising in his seat and shoutopening of the last round. Alternately the ing "Good boy. They exchanged light blows and then Nelson crowded Britt to the ropes in a neutral corner and jabbed his sore nose with a left. Ducking his way out, Britt turned, swinging right and left to the Dane's face with a vicious force that sent him reeling backwards to the ropes, and following up his advantage, he uppercut and smashed with both hands, while the blood flowed down Nelson's face and the crowd sent up a roar of delight that shook the incandescents.

Nelson All But Out.

Nelson failed to come back. The round ended with half a clinch and Nelson es-saying a weak uppercut with his left. It looked as though the final gong was all that saved him from a knockout. In his corner a moment later Nelson vomited freely. Nelson carried away as mementoes of the hardest 20-round fight he ever stood up to, a right eye all but closed, a slight gash over the left cheek, a cut mouth and ing nose, Britt showed up at the finish

Statement by Britt.

Britt made the following statement to the associated Press: "I have been going around two years claiming that I was Nelson's master and not making any cry as is the custom of the defeated fighters. I bided my time when I could fight my own fight and not one for the public and the result you see. Nelson could not have gone a half a round further. I never drew a long breath. I am willing to meet any 133-pound man in the world,"

Battler Has No Excuses.

Nelson was seen in his dressing room. "I have no excuses. Britt fought a good fight, but at that I think he won in the last round. I think I ate too much supper. They can't say I went the pace and I did my best.' "We have no complaint," said Nolan, the Dane's manager. "The decision was just. Nelson is a good loser."

Regarding the distribution of the gate receipts, the agreement was that 60 per cent should go to the fighters and 40 cent should go to the fighters and 40 per cent to the club promoters, but after the fight it was learned that at the eleventh hour Billy Nolan persuaded Alec Greggins to give up an extra 10 per cent to him and the Dane. This let the club out with only 30 per cent. Of the fighters' money 60 per cent went to the winner and 40 to the loser. The total receipts were in the neighborhood of $25,000. Approximately ten thousand people witnessed the

Nelson Wades In.

Round 3-Nelson waded in with left to the face and at close quarters drove his right thrice over the kidneys. Both missed some forceful blows and after some spar-ring Britt nearly sent Nelson against the ropes with right and left to the jaw. The Dane came back fighting viciously, only to receive a terrible left to the stomach and a right swing to the face. Apparently Nelson was undaunted and he kept forcing the pace and made Britt break ground. Nelson jabbed a vigorous left to the face and followed it with two left swings to the same spot. Then ensued a Round 4-Nelson, as usual, skipped quickly to the centre and after some sparring Britt drove two straight lefts to the face and followed it with a right to the ear. Britt bled at the nose from the effects of Nelson's left jabs in the previous round. Nelson forced the Californian to his (Britt's) corner. Britt sent Nelson back with short-arm swings to the jaw. Nelson only smiled significantly, however, and, getting in close. cantly, however, and, getting in close, swung a left and then a right to the face. Britt covered himself as best he could and they mixed it furiously in the centre of the ring, Nelson doing much execution with his short-arm jolts. At the call of the bell Britt rallied and drove in two Nelson went to his corner quickly, showing no effects. It was a hard-fought round, with Nelson enjoying a shade.

Round 5-Nelson forced Britt to a neu tral corner and the men fought shoulder to shoulder without damage. Britt swung twice with left to the face, and Nelson, leaning his head against Britt's shoulder, walloped the Californian several times with right and left uppercuts. Nelson then sent his left twice to the mouth and Britt spat blood. Britt got in two lefts but Nelson forced his man to the ropes. Round 7-They exchanged lefts to the jaw and then followed some in-fighting, in which Nelson invariably excelled. Nelson forced his man about the ring and against the ropes, but did not land. Nel-son then forced Britt against the ropes landing almost at will. Britt electrified the crowd by making a wonderful rally. He waded into the Battler and planted left and right, and then right and left to Nelson's face. Nelson smiled as the gong rang and the round ended with honors about even. Joe Gans injected life into ing "Good boy, Jimmy."

Round 8-Britt staggered Nelson with Then Britt backed away and continued to pepper Nelson's face with left and right swings. The Dane shook his head and went in all the time without, however, stemming the rain of blows to the face.

The round ended with honors Britt's by a clean margin.

Crowd Cheers Britt.

Round 9-The crowd cheered Britt as he arose. They went in close and Britt, backing off, shot two lefts to the Battler's face. He followed it with left the jaw and right to the same place. N son, maddened perceptibly, fought back hard and landed twice with the left to the face Nelson nearly slipped to his knees from a misspent punch and as he came in Britt whipped his left with great force to the jaw. After some sparring Britt, backing away, drove his left thrice to the face and varied it with a couple of right swings to the face. Nelson closed in, only to be a target for Britt's unerring left to the face. Nelson went to his corner with a battered face and Britt smiled grimly as he sought his corner. the world made himself a ringside feature. Clad in immaculate evening clothes, and holding his opera hat in one hand, he rooted for Britt all through the last half of the fight. "Go to him, Britt: Good boy, Jimmie:" he kept shouting, and when the enthusiasm of the crowd reached its high tide in the last two rounds the negro flung his hat into a chair and leaning up against the ring floor, clapped his hands incessantly and kept up a stream of encouraging calls to the Californian.

Round 10—Nelson endeavored to get to close quarters, but the Californian was too clever. He backed away and drove two rights to the head and followed it with three lefts to the same spot. Britt clearly outpointed Nelson at every turn. Nelson landed a glancing left to the nose and Britt stepped back. Again stepping away, Britt shot his left to the face twice and then uppercut with right to the jaw. Britt laced out with left, landing on the nose and bringing the blood afresh from Nelson's nose. Nelson was clearly outpointed and could scarcely locate the shifty Californian.

Britt Staggered Nelson.

Round 11—Britt staggered Nelson with two rights to the face. Nelson forced the fighting, however, but invariably Britt met him with left and right short arm blows to the head and face. Although Britt outpointed Nelson in this round. Nelson forced the fighting throughout the round and Britt contented himself with round, and Britt contented himself with backing away and meeting the Dane with long distance swats.

Round 12-Nelson forced Britt against the ropes and landed his left and right to the face. They worked to the center of the ring and Nelson went to his knees, partially from a swipe and Britt's impetus in his direction. Then they mixed it victiously, Britt outpointing the Dane 4 to 1 at close range. Nelson kept forcing the fight, and was met time and again by left and right to the law. again by left and right to the jaw. Britt fairly smothered his man with left and right smashes, and Nelson tottered about the ring like a beaten man. He hung to Britt and at times butted the Californian, for which he was warned by the referee. The bell rang and Nelson spat blood as he went to his seat. Britt brought the crowd to its feet in this round and clear-

Round 14—Acting under Nolan's inpression, forced Britt about the ring. As usual, his efforts to locate Britt were fruitless and Britt landed several left swings to the Dane's head. They closed in and Britt peppered his man with right and left jolts to the face. Britt drove Nelson's head back a foot with a terrific straight right. Kramer Wins Final.

In the final Kramer won with ease but bucked up against Hollister and Hopper, Lawson and Pye being at the back of the bunch in the final sprint. Lawson took the five and twenty miles and Clarke the ten and fifteen miles.

Hollister got off his wheel on one occasion to argue a point with the referee and protested the four men combination at the end of the race.

Samuelson rode one mile and one lap and quit. Samuelson is having trouble with the management over appearance money in the race and has practically refused to ride, that is he starts each night and quits shortly after the start. Gussie Lawson won the five-mile motor race with ease. At one time he was a lap in the lead and very accommodatingly turned off the power until the others had lapped him and then went out and caught them, and the crowd yelled. The two-mile amateur handicap was won by Wright from the fifty-yard mark. The scratch men, Schnell and Demara, caught the bunch, but were unable to get home on the final sprint.

S.S. S. RIDS THE SYSTEM

We breathe the germs and microbes of Malaria into our lungs and they are soon absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the system. Then we begin to feel "out of sorts," no appetite or energy, dull headaches, a tired, sleepy feeling, and often "dumb chills" and slight fever show that this insidious disease is affecting the entire health. As the trouble progresses and the blood becomes more deeply polluted, boils and abscesses, sores and ulcers or brown splotches appear on the skin. As Maiaria is a blood disease, to cure it requires a blood purifier, and S. S. S. is recognized as the best of blood purifiers. S. S. S. destroys the germs with which the blood is loaded and rids the system of Malaria. It goes down into the circulation and attacks the disease in the right way by removing every vestige of the cause and building up the blood from a weak, watery, germ-infected stream to a rich, healthful fluid, nourishing and vitalizing every part of the body by its purity. S. S. S. tones up every part of the system by its fine tonic effects, and being made entirely of healing, cleansing roots, herbs and barks it is an absolutely safe remedy for young or old.
